Europe Aid/132438/C/ACT/Multi

Contract: 2014/351-409 (previous: 2012/306-568)

Project objectives:

Overall objective is to contribute to the establishment of comprehensive legal and policy solutions for protection against violence in the Western Balkans, as conditions for the realisation of democracy, human rights, social inclusion and harmonisation with EU values.

Specific objective is increasing capacities of women's organisations and networks in 4 Western Balkan (WB) countries for analyses, monitoring and advocacy in the field of protection of women from gender based violence, through long-term regional cooperation and learning from EU experience.

The framework for the project activities is the Council of Europe Convention on preventing and combating violence against women and domestic violence.

Expected results:

1. Established dialogue between 6 women's organisations/ networks and at least 70 key decision makers on the harmonisation of national laws and measures of protection of GBV victims with the Council of Europe Convention.
2. Strengthened capacities of at least 23 local women's organisations for representing rights of women and monitoring measures of protection from GBV and social inclusion at the local level.
3. Established system for comprehensive monitoring of the implementation of legal and policy solutions related to the CoE Convention, by women's CSO networks.

Main groups of activities:

1. Public awareness raising campaign on women's rights to protection against gender based violence;
2. Organizing conferences, public discussions and informing media;
3. Advocacy for changes and amendments to laws and adoption of policies in accordance with the CoE Convention (drafting policy proposals and amendments to laws);
4. Representing rights of women survivors of gender based violence, supporting women in self-representation of rights, monitoring implementation of local policies on protection of violence and social inclusion, proposing solutions;
5. Establishing interactive database on situation in field of gender based violence in relation to standards set by the CoE Convention;

WAVE is a network of European women's non-governmental organisations working in the field of combating violence against women and children (women's refuges, counselling centres, SOS hotlines, organisations focusing on prevention and training, etc.).

Currently the Network focuses specifically on violence in the family and in intimate relationships. The Network sets out to promote and strengthen the human rights of women and children in general and to prevent violence against women and children in particular. The Network fully supports the aims of the United Nations, stressing the importance of working towards ending all forms of violence against women and children in public and private life in accordance with the Vienna Declaration, the Declaration on Violence against Women, the Beijing Platform for Action and all other related documents. Principal functions contain the following: to collect and disseminate data on organisations working in the field of violence against women and children and on the applicable legal provisions, prevention programmes, campaigns and international activities in this area; to issue publications (newsletters, conference reports, national and project reports etc.); and to organise and co-ordinate events such as the WAVE Conference and other meetings.

WAVE gathered long-standing experience in implementing research based projects on legislations to protect women and children from violence. Through its wide network of partner organizations from all over Europe the organization is able to provide up to date information on best practices concerning the protection from and prevention of gender-based violence and action plans and legislative initiatives to tackle the problem.

The European Women's Lobby is one of the oldest and best established European-level civil society NGOs.

Over the last 20 years, EWL membership has grown steadily to reach more than 2500 organisations across 30 European countries. The EWL has more than 20 years of experience in supporting women's coalitions, transnational projects and campaigns. More specifically, the EWL has supported its members and experts of the Observatory to undertake campaigns for the Council of Europe Convention on Violence against women with a lobbying kit (2010) and seminars in different countries. Before, it also developed indicators to monitor progress on violence against women, which has been used extensively in many countries by women's organizations working on VAW.
